

Durga Puja's spirit knows no boundaries. From the bustling streets of Kolkata to the vibrant communities across the globe, the festival's essence remains alive and thriving. This section takes you on a worldwide journey, featuring top locations worldwide where local communities celebrate this grand festival in different corners of the world.

The United Kingdom:

Thanks to the vibrant Bengali community in the UK, Durga Puja has been celebrated in multiple locations across the country. From London to Chelmsford, the celebrations have been embraced not only by the Bengali community but also by others.

The United States of America

The US celebrates Durga Puja with great passion, mostly because of the large population of Indians living there, particularly Bengalis. Beginning here in the early 1970s, celebrations of this five-day event are currently held throughout all 50 states in the union.

Australia:

All of Australia's main cities currently celebrate Durga Puja, which was established in 1974 by 12 households in New South Wales. Today, from Sydney to Melbourne, Durga Puja is celebrated across the continent by the Bengali communities.
